No. 408.
[New Issue.]

PRICE 3d.
[Registered as a Newspaper.]

CHATTO & WINDUS, PUBLISHERS.

WILKIE COLLINS'S NEW NOVEL. Now ready, 3 vols., crown 8vo, at every Library.

JEZEBEL'S DAUGHTER. BY WILKIE COLLINS.

OUIDA'S NEW NOVEL. 3 vols., crown 8vo, at every Library.

MOTHS. By Ouida.

"The story told in this book is the story of Vere's martyrdom, of her incessant struggles to keep herself pure and uncontaminated amid the vice and corruption which encircle her, of her sufferings in this course, and of the triumph which finally, though not altogether sustained, she achieves. . . . Vere is a truly grand character, grand both in conception and in delineation. . . . In respect of literary quality and dramatic power, the book is not inferior to any the author has produced for some time, which is saying a great deal in its favour."—Scotsman.

NEW NOVEL by the AUTHORS of "THE GOLDEN BUTTERFLY." Now ready, 3 vols., crown 8vo, at every Library.

THE SEAMY SIDE. By Walter Besant and JAMES RICE.

NEW NOVEL by HENRY JAMES, JUN. Second Edition. 2 vols., crown 8vo, at every Library.

CONFIDENCE. By Henry James, Jun.

"Full of the finest touches of one of the most delicate and brilliant of modern writers."—Daily News.

JUSTIN MCCARTHY'S NEW NOVEL. Second Edition. 3 vols., crown 8vo, at every Library.

DONNA QUIXOTE. By Justin McCarthy, Author of "Dear Lady Disdain," &c.

"'Donna Quixote' is full of entertainment and droll suggestion. Donna Quixote, with her high unselfish aims and noble single-hearted loyalty, holds the story up to a high moral level; but the comic episodes are so abundant, and so true to life, that laughter accompanies the pages all but uninterruptedly."—Daily News.

Mrs. LINTON'S NEW NOVEL. 3 vols., crown 8vo, at every Library.

UNDER WHICH LORD? By E. Lynn LINTON, Author of "Patricia Kemball," &c.

"Mrs. Linton has executed with remarkable skill and boldness a difficult task, and has written a book so strange, so powerful, and so unconventional, that we have to go back to the early days of George Sand to find a work of the same character. . . . So well written a novel, or so profound a study of human nature, is not easy to find. . . . The book exercises a complete fascination over the reader. . . . So keen is the feeling aroused, that it is scarcely possible to rest till the end of the story is reached. . . . If Mrs. Linton has many novels like this in her wallet, she is likely to take a foremost rank in fiction."—Sunday Times.

Now Ready, the Twentieth Annual Edition, for 1880, enlarged, price 50s., elegantly bound.

THE COUNTY FAMILIES of the UNITED KINGDOM: a Royal Manual of the Titled and Untitled Aristocracy of Great Britain and Ireland. By EDWARD WALFORD, M.A.

Now ready, in one thick volume of 1,200 pages, crown 8vo, half-roxburgh, 12s. 6d.

THE READER'S HANDBOOK of Allusions, References, Plots, and Stories. By the Rev. Dr. BREWER.

"Dr. Brewer has produced a wonderfully comprehensive dictionary of references to matters which are always cropping up in conversation and in every-day life, and writers generally will have reason to feel grateful to the author for a most handy volume, supplementing in a hundred ways their own knowledge or ignorance, as the case may be. . . . It is something more than a mere dictionary of quotations, though a most useful companion to any work of that kind, being a dictionary of most of the allusions, references, plots, stories, and characters which occur in the classical poems, plays, novels, romances, &c., not only of our own country, but of most nations, ancient and modern."—Times.

QUEEN of the MEADOW. By Charles GIBBON, Author of "Robin Gray," &c.

"'Queen of the Meadow' is a delightful pastoral, a sort of prose idyl. . . . The materials for the story are of the simplest, yet out of them is woven a web of honest misunderstanding which keeps the attention of the reader rivetted, and stirs the best feelings of his or her nature. . . . Each character is a careful study. . . . It is attractively written, full of descriptions and scenes which will be enjoyed by those who long for summer and a breath of country air. Not many novelists nowadays can or do produce writing of this kind. . . . In some respects it is the best Mr. Gibbon has done; in all respects it will make the reader wish for more."—Scotsman.

He has also the art of putting forth in a fairly accurate and lucid form the facts and theories which mark the latest points of progress in the various paths of physical investigation. . . . We cannot doubt that good service is done towards the spread of knowledge among the unprofessional students of nature, and a wholesome interest in the labours of our more advanced pioneers kept up among the general public by means of popular essays such as those in the volume before us."—Saturday Review.

"The author's main aim in this work is to demonstrate the substantial identity of the ancient religious systems of all the Teutonic nations. . . . History, legend, tradition, tale, and song are all pressed into his service, and compelled to yield their quota of evidence."—Scotsman.

"So nearly complete, and so nearly exhaustive, that Grimm's successors can hardly hope to discover anything new in the field he has cultivated. . . . The work deserves nothing but praise, and the translation is most conscientious and written in excellent English."—Examiner.

LORD BEACONSFIELD: his Life,
Character, and Works. By GEORGE BRANDES. A Critical Study. Translated by Mrs. GEORGE STURGE. Demy 8vo, 10s. 6d.

FROM THE "TIMES."

"A study of a living statesman by a judicious foreigner must always be instructive. In some respects a foreigner can do for contemporaries what the historian does for posterity.
Most Englishmen, whether Whig or Tory, will turn with no little interest to the pages of Herr Brandes to see the impression made on an acute and critical German by one of the most remarkable personalities in modern European politics.
We have no space to examine in detail the manner in which Herr Brandes has executed his task. It was manifestly congenial to him, and he has not a few qualifications for it.
His information is copious and singularly accurate so far as we have tested it; and his literary criticisms at least are sound, penetrating, and genial. As a biography, his work is far more valuable, because more concise and impartial, than any which has appeared in England. As a criticism, it is generally instructive, and often suggestive."

"FLITTERS, TATTERS, AND THE COUNSELLOR."
CHRISTY CAREW. By the Author of
"Hogan, M.P.," "The Hon. Miss Ferrard," &c. 3 vols.,

"An essay on modern Irish, or rather Dublin society, which bears the impress of truth. Whatever may be the political or religious bias of the reader, he can hardly fail to find so life-like a sketch of society in an important portion of the realm both timely and interesting."—Athenaeum.

"Christy Carew" is a very clever book, displaying in many places passages such as one has at present the right to expect from George Eliot alone. Is the authoress to be her successor? There are not a few now watching her career with great attention who think she can be if she only chooses."—Morning Post.

OMAR KHAYYAM and JAMI: the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, the Astronomer-Poet of Persia, rendered into English verse. Fourth Edition. SALAMAN and ABSAL, an allegorical Sufi poem, by Maulana Nur ud Din Abd ur-Rahman bin Ahmed JAMI, in English metre, with a notice of Jami's life. Second Edition. 2 parts in 1 vol., 12mo, pp. xv. and 112, half-roxburghe, 10s. 6d.

"The translation by Mr. FITZGERALD of some of the Quatrains of OMAR KHAYYAM, the Astronomer-Poet of Persia, was published anonymously, and at first utterly neglected by an unappreciative public. Presently, however, the great merit of the poems came to be known, and the book rapidly ran through three editions; we now welcome a new and enlarged reprint, which, together with the same translator's version of a poem by the celebrated Jami, forms an elegant and most readable little volume."—Saturday Review, January 17th, 1880.
